A most important coin. The reverse with Pluto and Cerberus on coins is extremely rare, and for the Roman series only known on these few coins of Caracalla. The three heads of this monster were said to signify the power of Pluto over the three elements of water, earth and air.

COLLECTION OF ANCIENT BRITISH COINS

This highly important collection of ancient British coins has been meticulously formed by a Queensland collector over many years. Ranging from the earliest types of Gallo-Belgic gold staters imported into Britain, through to the later Celtised pieces issued under the 1st century kings, it stands as a comprehensive collection of early gold, silver and bronze rarely seen in a single offering.

With over 110 lots, the offerings cover the major coin issuing regions of ancient Britain and includes superb examples of the key pieces in the series. The collector has focussed on rarity and quality and many pieces are among the finest known examples inside and outside museum collections. The coins are arranged here by region, tribes and rulers and it illustrates the stylistic complexity of the different mints.

Fountaine was a scholar of Anglo-Saxon history and a major collector of art, maiolica, books and coins in the early 18th century. Knighted in 1699, he was elevated as a Knight of the Bath and became warden of the Royal Mint in 1727. To pay for his large country estate, Narford, he sold a large part of his coin collection to the Earl of Pembroke, the Duke of Devonshire and the Venetian ambassador, Cornaro. A friend of Jonathan Swift and Cosimo III de' Medici, he died in 1753. The remainder of his collection was sold by Christies in 1884 and was so large it took four days to auction.

This piece was found in Rochester, Kent and is very rare as a British find with only three others recorded.

Evans (1890) sees a VE monogram on the obverse and speculates that it may stand for a Gallic Verica. Van Arsdell (1989) also calls it a VE monogram. Chris Rudd determines it to be an archaic letter A, referring to the Atrebat of northern Gaul who apparently issued this Gallic War type. 53 have been recorded on the Continent, but only three have been found in Britain.

$5,000

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 112, #33.

Only 39 Catti gold staters are recorded and they are extremely scarce on the market. Chris Rudd notes that this is the finest example he has handled. "The quality of the metal is alluring - a warm, pinkish gold - and the surfaces are silky smooth. The long legged triple tailed horse is wholly revealed and you can clearly see both the king's name at the top and the whole of the sun wheel at the bottom."

The Dobunni were a western tribe whose heartland lay in the Cotswolds, covering Gloucestershire, Worcestershire and Avon, stretching to Somerset, Wiltshire and Oxfordshire.

$4,000

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 113, #29.

The name above the horse ends with a Greek theta on this piece. It suggests that the name was pronounced Anteth, not Anted.

This is a splendid example of the Anted Rig (Theta type) gold stater with both obverse and reverse displaying stunning detail in striking and preservation. It is very rare in this condition.

EISU

4625*

Ancient British, Western Region, Inscribed coins, Dobunni, Eisu Tree type, (c.20-43 A.D.), gold stater, (5.45 g), obv. tree-symbol on plain field, rev. horse to right, EISV, two pellets and small x above forming hidden face, six spoked wheel below, (S.381, ABC 2078, Van A 1105, WE 8, BMC 3039-42, M 388). Smooth surfaces of rose gold, nice horse, full EISV and wheel, nearly extremely fine - extremely fine and rare.

Chris Rudd notes that this is one of the most desirable Anted Rig gold staters he has seen. The surrounding fields are flawless. The horse is fully displayed and lavishly ornamented. It is rare to have the full regal title ANTED RIGOV on the reverse. This is a museum quality piece.

NORTH THAMES REGION - EASTERN CANTIAN INSPIRED

4632*

Ancient British, North Thames Region, Eastern, Uninscribed coins, SS type, (c.55-45 B.C.), gold stater, (5.55 g), obv. two reversed S-shapes on lightly banded flan, rev. annulate horse to right, tail splitting into three strands, beaded mane, clumpy hooves, wing motif, uncertain object (charioteer's arms?) and pellet triad above, (S.34, ABC 2237, Van A 109, NT 5-6, BMC 350, M 146, CCI 08.9036 [this coin]). Nice round flan of good gold, attractive horse, well ornamented, good very fine - nearly extremely fine and excessively rare.

$3,500

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 98, #42.

Found near Waldringfield, Suffolk, 1/3/2007.

This gold stater is excessively rare with only five others recorded.

The SS type displays elements that suggests that it was inspired by Cantian prototypes. John Sills notes that it is only the sixth SS stater recorded by the Celtic Coin Index, and the second example from this reverse die. The staters are usually found in Essex and were almost certainly struck on Trinovantian territory, but have banded obverses more typical of the Cantii. The coinage does not fit easily into the Trinovantian series and may be evidence that the Cantii controlled part of Essex from an early date. We are still uncertain as to the meaning of the reverse SS letters on the obverse, but Caesar mentions that one of the four kings of Kent in 54 B.C. was called Segovax.

4633*

Ancient British, North Thames Region, Eastern, Uninscribed coins, SS type, (c.52-47 B.C.), gold quarter stater, (1.27 g), obv. S in middle of field on slightly banded flan, rev. trophy-type motif with serpentine bar each side, L-shape below with ringed pellet on ends, 'cogwheel' sun above, ringed pellet either side, (S.-, ABC 2249, Van A -, NT 5-6, BMC -, M -, CCI 07.0409 [this coin]). Toned gold, bold trophy, well ornamented, good very fine - nearly extremely fine and extremely rare.

$800

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 94, #41.

Found at Hockwold, Norfolk, 5/2/2007.

This quarter stater is excessively rare and is not listed in many standard works. Only 10 others have been recorded included one plated example. The S on the obverse presumably ties it to the SS type gold stater of the same time.

TRINOVANTES

4634*

Ancient British, North Thames Region, Late Whaddon Chase, Uninscribed coins, Big Pellet type, (c.55-45 B.C.), gold stater, (5.83 g), obv. virtually blank with traces of crossed wreaths, rev. horse to right, short dashes for mane, winged object and pellets above, large pellet below, (S.33, ABC 2338, Van A 1498, NT 5-6, BMC 344, M 140). Nice flan of good gold, attractive example of the horse, good very fine - nearly extremely fine and very rare.

$1,500

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 118, #35.

Found near Clacton, Essex. (Trinovantian territory).

This is a superb specimen of the very rare Big Pellet type of Late Whaddon Chase gold stater that displays a fantastic rendering of the galloping horse with a winged symbol hovering above. The good quality of the gold and heavy weight indicates that it is an early issue.

4635*

Ancient British, North Thames Region, Trinovantes, Uninscribed coins, Clacton Quarter type, (c.60-50 B.C.), gold quarter stater, (1.42 g), obv. three men in a boat with crescents around, rev. horse to right, two pellets and downturned crescent above, pellet under head, pellet and small x below, exergual line with zigzag decoration, (S.42, ABC 2350, Van A -, NT 4-5, BMC 192, M -, CCI 07.0535 [this coin]). Nice flan of pale gold, attractive horse for type, good very fine and scarce.

Ex L.Baker Collection.

4636*

Ancient British, North Thames Region, Trinovantes, Uninscribed coins, Clacton Dragon type, (c.60-50 B.C.), gold quarter stater, (1.44 g), obv. three men in a boat motif, rev. central bar with appendages forming 'dragonesque' motif, (S.-, ABC 2353, Van A -, NT 4-5, BMC -, M -). Attractive yellow gold, bold striking, nearly extremely fine and excessively rare.

$1,000

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 144, #29.

Ex Anton Beasley Collection.

This coin was originally miscatalogued as the Clacton Cross type (ABC 2356), but in fact it is the excessively rare Clacton Dragon type (ABC 2353).

This is only the second example recorded, the other being the ABC plate coin (Rudd, list 105, #37).

$1,800

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 109, #43.

Found in Essex.

An important published coin which reveals two clear examples of the early British letter A.

Rainer Kretz says: "This interesting and rarely offered Dubnovellaunos stater was struck early on in the production of this extremely varied and long-lasting series. There are only three coins known from this particular die combination."

CATUVELLAUNI

$4,000

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 116, #39.

Ex Alan Cooper Collection. Previously J.Fay Collection.

Only ten other examples are recorded of this extremely rare stater.

Ingoldisthorpe staters were among the first gold coins struck in Britain, as their heavy weight testify. This Ingoldisthorpe Triquetra has a lovely old toning and was unearthed many years ago. This is a famous, well documented stater. It was featured in Dr John Sill's important paper 'The ABC of Westerham gold' (Chris Rudd list 33, 1998, p.2-4, fig.6). It was also the plate coin in Spink's Coins of England from 2000 to 2005 (fig.20B).

$5,000

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 116, #42.

Ex C.Lister Collection with old ticket.

Rainer Kretz notes that this piece belongs to the series Obv. A-C1, Rev. IV A and was produced at the height of Tasciovanos' power. The complex design on the obverse is a fascinating example of Celtic symmetrical design and the legend VER indicates Verlamion. The reverse shows the dynamic design of the horse and warrior later in the series and is unusual with the full depiction of the carnyx above.

This is an extremely rare piece, Rainer Kretz recorded a total of 9 examples with this die combination. It is also the cover coin of Chris Rudd's printed list 116, March 2011.

$500

Private purchase from Chris Rudd, list 101, #49.

It is extremely rare to have the traces of legend visible on the reverse.

Previously these quarter staters were attributed to Tasciovanos only on stylistic grounds but an article in Spink Numismatic Circular, Vol CVI, #1, 1998 announced the discovery of an example with enough legend visible to attribute the piece to Tasciovanos. This coin is very similar with the traces of legend.

Ex R.P.Mack Collection.

Previously D.S.Napier Collection, Glendinnings 30 May 1956, lot 3.

This is an extremely rare variety with only 8 others known, two of which are in the British Museum.

This is one of the few corn-ear staters that doesn't show a victory palm above the horse. It is a well documented coin that was published by R.P.Mack in Syllogue of Coins of the British Isles 20 (British Academy, 1973), pl.V, no.151, and by Derek Allen in 'Cunobelin's Gold', Britannia 6, 1975, pl.IV, no.119. This is one of the finest known specimens of this interesting type, arguably nicer than the two British Museum pieces.
