Herbert Cole 'Nugget' Coombs, 1906-1997, was an Australian economist and public servant. Born in Kalamunda, Western Australia, the son of a railway station master and one of six children, he attained a BA (Hons) and MA from the University of Western Australia and a PhD from the London School of Economics. His early post school years were spent teaching and furthering his studies in economics. In 1935 he became an economist with the Commonwealth Bank of Australia, at that time Australia's central bank. In 1939 he moved to the Department of the Treasury and in 1941 was appointed to the Commonwealth Bank board by Prime Minister John Curtin. In 1942 the Treasurer of the time, Ben Chifley, appointed Coombs as Director of Rationing and in 1943 Director-General of a newly created ministry, the Department of Post-War Reconstruction. Coombs became a confidant of Chifley and when the latter was appointed Prime Minister in 1945 Coombs was one of the most powerful public servants in Australia's history. In January 1949 Chifley appointed Coombs as the Governor of the Commonwealth Bank. Even after a change of government, Coombs was retained in this key economic role and in 1960, when the Reserve Bank of Australia was established to assume the Commonwealth Bank's central banking responsibilities, he was appointed Governor of the Reserve Bank of Australia. He retired in 1968. He was heavily involved in various other fields including the arts and Aboriginal affairs and in fact was the prime author of the Labor Party's policy on Aboriginal affairs and the commitment to Aboriginal land rights. His advice against resorting to financing government operations by unorthodox means was ignored resulting in the Loans Affair of 1975 that led to the dismissal of the Whitlam Government. The signature H C Coombs appears on all Australian banknotes, firstly as Governor of the Commonwealth Bank of Australia from 1 January 1949 to 13 January 1960 and then Governor of the Reserve Bank of Australia from 14 January 1960 to 22 July 1968.

Great Britain, first rare original postcard used in Great Britain, the post card was used during the United Kingdom's first aerial post in September 1911. This postcard was flown between Hendon (London) and Windsor on 9th September 1911. It is one of the cards specially produced to be used during this historical event. The front is printed with an attractive image of a Bristol 'Boxkite' aeroplane flying over Windsor Castle and bears the following inscription, 'Coronation - A.D. 1911 - First U.K. Aerial Post - By Sanction of H.M. Postmaster General - For Conveyance by Aeroplane from London to Windsor - No responsibility in respect of loss, damage, or delay, is undertaken by the Postmaster General'. It has its original two halfpenny KGV stamps and is franked with the official 'Aerial Post' hand stamp. The left hand side of the reverse is printed with the relevant information and instructions. This postcard was sent to Mr and Mrs. A Neale, of 117 Barker Road, 'Subiaco' in Western Australia, length 140mm. Edge folds and damage on one edge, otherwise fine and rare.

This event was to be the U.K.'s first official aerial post and was inaugurated to celebrate King George V's coronation. It was masterminded by Captain W. G. Windham who was one of the pilots involved in the world's first air mail service at Allahabad in India in February of 1911. The pilots chosen to fly the mail were Gustav Hamel and C.H. Greswell both flying Bleriot's, the French pilot C.L.A. Hubert and the South African E.F. Driver, both using Farmans. The first flight was made by Hamel on Saturday 9th September 1911 the date stamped on the above post card.
