Licensed Boatman, Sydney, undated (c1850s), badge in bronze (oval 83x97.5mm), in the centre is inscribed the license number '638' and below Sydney is inscribed the recipient's name, 'Charles.Bullock', with two pierced securing holes at top and bottom and sides for wearing. Good very fine and rare.

$1,000

Licensed boatmen provided a ferry service in rowing boats in Sydney Cove and Darling Harbour, for example by rowing across Sydney Harbour from points such as Millers Point (south side) to Blues Point (north side).

The regulations stated that the boatman had to register his name and place of abode at the Police Office and then receive a badge which was to be worn on the left breast of his coat or jacket. The boatman also had to have his name and place of abode painted in one inch long letters on the inside of the gunwale of the stern of his boat and also on the inside of the gunwale of the fore sheets.

See article in The Australiana Society, Australiana magazine, Vol 29 No 1, February 2007, Licensed Boatman badges by Les Carlisle. In this article is recorded that the Licensed Boatman badges for Sydney known to still exist total 9, numbered between 95 and 638, including one with details unknown.

Cessation of Transportation, 1853, bronze (58mm) by the Royal Mint, London (C.1853/2). In original fitted case, this damaged, toned with traces of mint red, choice uncirculated and very scarce in this condition.

A law for the Cessation of Transportation was passed by British Parliament and the news conveyed to Tasmania on 10 August 1853. A medal to commemorate the event was produced by the Royal Mint in London and in 1855 a shipment of 9,000 white metal medals and 100 bronze medals was received. The white metal issues were primarily distributed to school children in Tasmania and the bronze were awarded for services rendered in the 'anti-transportation cause'.

In the South Australian Register, an Adelaide newspaper, on Wednesday 22 August 1855, page 3 it was reported that a 'medal to Commemorate the Cessation of Transportation, several of the medals which have been struck to commemorate the cessation of transportation to the colony of Van Diemen's Land, have been awarded by the Tasmanian Committees to persons in New South Wales who took an active part in the anti-transportation movement. Amongst others, Mr. Cowper, M.LC., President of the Anti-Transportation League, Mr. Parkes, M.L.C., and Mr. Gilbert Wright, have received the medal, which is of bronze, and is 2-1/4 inches in diameter.

On the obverse is the profile of Her Majesty, very neatly and firmly executed, and by no means an unfaithful likeness. The inscription on the obverse is simply 'Victoria Queen, MDCCCLIII.' The reverse has the Australasian Arms, with the supporters, the kangaroo and the emu, and bears the inscription, ' Cessation of Transportation, 1853 - Tasmania founded 1803.' The design of the medal is remarkably chaste and neat, and its appearance is at once simple and elegant. It is a tasteful memorial of the event it is designed to commemorate, and forms an appropriate recognition of the services of those who took a foremost part in the movement which resulted in the cessation of transportation to Van Diemen's Land, and thus gave the death-blow to the convict system in these colonies.'

It is significant that the reverse design of the medal, referred to above as the Australasian arms was the coat-of-arms adopted by Australia following federation.

The Comunn Na Feine Society was the first Scottish society formed in the colony of Victoria being founded in December 1856. Its first highland gathering was held in 1857 and attracted 5-6,000 people. The society was very involved in competitions for education, music, dancing and sporting activities.

A report of these Scottish Games held at Geelong, Victoria on 2 January 1860 stated that they lasted until sundown and except for one little 'scrimmage' between two inebriates, the best order prevailed during the day. Competitions were held in Tilting (10 competitors and won by John Riddoch, as per above medal, who took off 12 rings), Archery, Music, Dancing, Costume, Heavy Stone, Light Stone, Heavy Hammer, Light Hammer, Running High Leap, Standing High Leap, Running Long Leap, Foot Race, Single Stitch, Aborigines Foot Race (won by Alexander, a Sydney native) and Spear-Throwing (won by Dick of Geelong). Tilting, based on medieval jousting, is the sport of riding a horse and trying to hook a ring onto the rider's lance.

Mr Weeks White was proprietor of a bakery and an alderman on Newtown Council. Prior to his departure for an extended trip to Europe he was honoured by a reception of the council held at Newtown Town Hall on Tuesday night 17 April 1894 and then in the evening of the following Saturday by a gathering of no less than about 100 employees, bandsmen and a few young ladies and gentlemen who met at his bunting decorated Enmore bakery for a send off function. On behalf of the employees of his Enmore and Waterloo bakery establishments he was presented with an illuminated address by Mr Sharp, foreman of the Waterloo establishment. He was also presented with a badge and silver medal by Mr Palmer on behalf of members of the Enterprise Brass Band in testimony of the support they had received from him since the band's formation. The function closed with a rendering of 'He's a Jolly Good Fellow' and 'God Save the Queen'.

The Enterprise Brass Band had been formed by Weeks White in order to give his employees recreation and he had engaged Mr John Palmer of the Sydney City Mission No.1 Brass Band to undertake conductorship. The band appeared for the first time in public in uniform on Wednesday 4 June 1890.

$150

The Sydney Savage Club, formed in 1934, was based on the Savage Club in London. The name is derived from Richard Savage (1697-1743), the English poet. It has social and cultural objects and its meetings were called corroborees. Its logo was Koora Na Boon, which was also the name of its journal. It operates today with the aim of sponsoring multiple events in the City of Sydney Eisteddfod and providing encouragement to young performers in the fields of music, arts and theatre.

Will Andrade was a prominent publisher and book store owner in Sydney and Melbourne and he also owned a successful Magic Department business. He was a political radical and published the first Australian translated editions of several of Lenin's works. He died in 1939 after a surfing accident at South Steyne beach.

The first with a handwritten note to indicate that it was acquired from the daughter of Harald Bowden. In the awarding of the MBE as recorded below, it reveals that Mr Bowden was very much involved in events that were staged during the 150th Anniversary celebrations.

Harald Bowden, was born in Sydney about 1886. He became an actor in 1905 and had an association with J.C.Williamson Ltd (was their New York agent 1924-34), and later became manager and a director of the company. In 1938 he was one of the operators of the Criterion Theatre, which is one of the many names that North Sydney's Independent Theatre, Sydney's oldest continually running 'live' theatre, has operated under. As well as an MBE, Mr Bowden was also a recipient of a King George VI Coronation Medal in 1937. He died in Sydney on 23 August 1970.

Harald Arthur Bowden was awarded an MBE (Civil Division) for services in connection with patriotic movements in the State of New South Wales and as Chairman of the 'Pageant of Nations' Committee, Australia's 150th Anniversary Celebrations. (London Gazette Supplement 9 June 1938, p3702)

$100

This badge was produced in c1940 for the N.S.W. Association of Change Ringers. Approximately 40 badges were handmade by a Sydney jeweller. On 28 September 1978 this badge was given to Les Carlisle by Mr Ralph Joyner, a bell ringer at St Mark's Church Darling Point in Sydney, the church where Les and Margaret Carlisle were married in 1952. This association was renamed in 1962 along with the inclusion of ringers from other Australian states and New Zealand to form the Australian and New Zealand Association of Bellringers. The bellringers are responsible for the co-ordination of English-style 'full circle ringing' namely change ringing, and method ringing in bell towers with a peal of bells.

All formerly the property of Harry Job, magician, who was born in Parkes, NSW in 1909. Harry became interested in magic when the family moved to Sydney in 1916 and by the 1930s he was an accomplished magician and manager of Andrade's Magic Department, which had been established by Will Andrade a decade earlier. Following a fatal accident to Will Andrade in 1939, Harry took over the business and the name Will Andrade. In World War II, he entertained troops at camp concerts and in hospitals. He was also with the British Commonwealth Occupation Forces Unit (BCOF) in Japan in 1948 and was the magician in 'Myles of Smiles' concert party that toured Japan at war's end. Harry Job died in 1996.

Will Andrade had bookstores in Melbourne and at 173 Pitt Street, Sydney.

Ron Byatt was the Managing Director of Amor Ltd, a family owned business which began as Harvey C. Smith making Masonic Lodge jewels and regalia. It then acquired the medallist business of W.J. Amor and commenced trading as Amor Ltd. In 1970 the company acquired the business of badge and medal maker, W.J. Sanders, and in 1985 the badge maker, Denham Neal & Treloar. The firm from this time traded as Amor Sanders Denham Neal & Treloar. Ron Byatt retired in 1997 and sold the business to Christies, the Sydney firm with a shop in Pitt Street and a factory at St Peters. It now operates the badge business under the name Amor Badges. Ron Byatt died on 20 August 2009.
